DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the motors must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as “amended.” If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either “Replacement Sheet” or “New Sheet” pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 1, 2, 4, 5, 7, 8, 10, 11, 20-25, and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. In order for applicant's invention to operate according to the claims, there must be some way of holding lid in the raised position to support a user's calves. Applicant gives no description of how that is accomplished. Also, applicant claims at least two motors, the positioning of which, size, type, and arrangement of which is not disclosed. Since the device is intended to operate as a storage compartment, it is unclear how the motors are arranged or positioned to maintain the least amount of intrusion into the storage space.
4. Claims 1, 2, 4, 5, 7, 8, 10, 11, 20-25, and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as based on a disclosure which is not enabling. The structure for holding the lid in the calf support position, critical or essential to the practice of the invention, but not included in the claim(s) is not enabled by the disclosure. See In re Mayhew, 527 F.2d 1229, 188 USPQ 356 (CCPA 1976). No structure is claimed that enables the device to operate as claimed.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 9/24/09 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to the 112 1st paragraph rejections above, the applicant has suggested that a prior art motor arrangement such as that shown by US Patent 4,366,983 is well known in the art and one of ordinary skill in the art would readily recognize that this type of arrangement could be used to construct the current invention without undue experimentation. The examiner respectfully disagrees with this assertion for a couple of reasons. While the mechanics of such a drive device are well understood, what is critical to the current invention is how to arrange and package the device. The structure of a vehicle seat is much different than that of the current invention and arrangement of the motor and drive devices requires substantial thought and planning. The current device also includes at least two drive devices, one to drive the device forward and backward as well as for rotating the lid. While the prior art may suggest how to mechanically drive the movement, it does not suggest at all how to arrange it in a footrest such as that shown by applicant. Applicant has also included photographs illustrating an actual working model of the current invention showing how drives such as those shown by the prior art can be used to operate the current invention. Much of the material shown by these photographs is new matter that is very helpful in determining exactly how to make the current invention. While viewing these photographs, it is easy to see how the principles of the drive mechanism shown in US Patent 4,366,983 can be applied to the current invention. However, this new matter is not part of the original disclosure and thus cannot be considered. It is exactly the new matter in the photographs that is missing from the original disclosure.

Applicant has also asserted that the structure for holding the lid in an open position could be accomplished in a number of known ways. However, the examiner has pointed out in the rejection above that the holding structure does not appear in the claims, yet is necessary for the device to function.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
